

RELIANCE WON BY 79 SECONDS

Over the Challenger.

Contest Throughout Was Closer Than Saturday's Race.

Uncertainty to the Very End.

The Second Victory for the American Yacht Anchors the Coveted Cup All the More Securely on This Side of the Briny Deep.

New York, Aug. 25.—The prospects for another good contest between the Reliance and Shamrock III today were encouraging at 7 o'clock. A fine seven knot breeze was blowing out to the southeast, the sea was fairly smooth and the horizon clear for many miles. Contrary to the predictions of some of the old weather prophets along the shore, the easterly breeze which blew nearly all day yesterday and which shifted towards the south at midnight did not drop away completely but continued throughout the night and was still blowing at a five or six knot gale at dawn this morning. Four hours before the time set for the start it had increased to about seven or eight knots and there was every indication that it would hold throughout the day, giving the yachts and especially the Shamrock, every opportunity to prove their worth over the 39 mile course, which according to the program must be sailed in the second contest between the boats. With the wind from the south south east it looked some hours before the time set for the start as if the committee would send the boats on a ten mile beat to windward from Sandy Hook followed by a reach of another ten miles about northeast another reach of ten miles a little north of the lightship. There was plenty of sea room under these conditions to start the boats at the lightship and no preparations were made therefore for shifting the starting place as was the case on Saturday.

As the morning progressed, numerous little fishing boats came sailing up the coast from the south at a fairly good gale. They rolled and dipped a trifle but the sea was much smoother than last week. In fact there was comparatively little surf along the shore. The air was wonderfully clear and some of the incoming European vessels could be sighted 20 or 30 miles off shore.

Although the wind was near to the southeast along the Jersey shore, nearer the lightship it looked to be 3 or 4 points nearer the southward as several pilot boats seemed able to hold a course very nearly parallel to the shore. The crews of the two contestants were out early and before breakfast had taken the covers off their main sail and raised their jibs and stay sails in stops. After breakfast at seven o'clock the Shamrock's crew started at once to work on the new main sail appreciating that it would take more time to get a proper set to it than if using the old one. At 7 45 they had it well under way while the Reliance at the same hour began to raise her's. The breeze was increasing and the flags at the headquarters of the yachts began to stand out from the masts against which they had hitherto flapped since sunrise.

The Shamrock set her new main sail in place and to the shore it looked very much of an improvement over the old one. It did not lap the boom and set up well together to the club top sail. There was only one pucker in it and that was out 30 feet from the boom. As the wind caught it it belled close to the mast and there was a broad curve on the leach. This should prove of great advantage on the reach, so the yachtmen said.

The Reliance was only using one new sail, and that a jib which set a little flatter than her old jib and this too is considered at advantage to south southeast during the early morning, hauled a bit to the southward blowing a point or two east of south. It still continued, however, at about a seven knot gale, and these conditions seemed to prevail over a wide stretch of water so that there was at this time every prospect that the race would not only be started on time but that the boats would be able to cover the course within the time limit of five and a half hours.

Soon after 10 o'clock both yachts had arrived at the lightship and cast off their tows. Nearly an hour remained before the starting gun was to be fired and the yachts sailed back and forth about the light ship which the committee boat did not reach until some time later. When the Shamrock dropped her tow she immediately broke out her jibs holding away from the lightship on the port tack sent up her largest club top sail. The crew worked smartly and inside of ten minutes all the large sails were placed. The top sail of the Reliance set while inside the Hook, proved somewhat smaller than the weather conditions warranted and Captain Barr finding the sea smooth and the wind comparatively light decided to

SUSPENDED FOR ONE YEAR.

Heavy Dose Given American Trainer Charged With Drugging Horses.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—John Oliver Keine, of Lexington, Ky., a trainer, has been suspended for a year owing to the alleged drugging of a horse. The stable with which Keine was connected, has met with phenomenal success during the last five months it has won $100,000. Keine denies the charge and has appealed to Grand Duke Dimitri Constantinovich, the protector of Russian racing.

THE PRESENTS OF CIGARETTES

Tendered by the Sultan, Refused by Admiral Kruger of the Russian Navy.

Constantinople, Aug. 25.—Three Bulgarian villages near Tcherkeskol, vilayet of Adrianople, are reported to have been attacked by Circassians and their inhabitants massacred. The presents of food and cigarettes which the Sultan sent to the Russian squadron shortly after it anchored off India, on the eastern coast of Turkey, were not permitted to be received on board the Russian warship, Admiral Kruger refusing to accept them.

Elihu Root Resigns.

Touching Letters of Regret Handed Out to Each Other

Which Are Extremely Pathetic

Unstinted Praise of Each Others Qualities, Personal and Otherwise, Given to the American People in Two Doses, Namely, Elihu to Theodore and Theodore to Elihu.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 25.—Secretary Root, under date of August 19, presented his resignation formally to the president. The resignation was accepted by the president, with the understanding that Mr. Root continue as secretary of war at least until Jan. 1. Governor General Wm. H. Taft, of the Philippines will succeed Secretary Root, as secretary of war.

COMMUNICATION

Concerning the Resignation of Secretary of War, Elihu Root.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt today authorized the following statement:

"The president some days ago tendered the secretaryship of war to Judge Taft, and at that time it was arranged that he would succeed Secy. Root. Secretary Root will go out of office some time in January, and Judge Taft will assume the duties of the office shortly afterward."

The president also authorized the publication of the correspondence between him and Secretary Root, concerning the latter's resignation. In full the correspondence follows:

"Dear Mr. President: You have been good to assent to the sufficiency of the reasons for which I have wished to retire to private life as soon as practicable after the establishment of the general status of the army and the completion of my full four years of service as secretary of war. While it is understood that you will probably not arrange to fill the office as you wish, before the end of the year and that I am to remain in office in the meantime, it is probable that you will be ready to send a name to the senate in November or December and before you do so, my resignation should be in your hands. I find myself on the eve of sailing for England, to attend the sessions of the Alaska boundary tribunal, and I am quite unable to judge how many months I shall be kept away from this country, and I therefore now tender my resignation of the office of Secretary of War to take effect upon the appointment and qualifications of my successor. I shall carry with me unabated loyalty to your administration, confidence in the sound conservatism and patriotic unselfishness of your policy and enduring gratitude for the kindness and consideration, which your friendship has honored me. I shall not cease to appreciate the sympathy and loyalty to President McKinley, with which you took and carried on his work—and I shall always be happy to have been a part of the administration directed by your sincere and rugged adherence to right and devotion to the true interests of our country. I am with great respect and esteem always faithfully yours,

ELIHU ROOT"

LETTER OF REGRET

From Roosevelt to the Resigning Secretary of War.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Hon. Elihu Root, Secretary of War, Wash., D. C.:

My Dear Mr. Root:—"It is hard indeed for me to accept your resignation; and I do so, not only with keen personal regret, but with a lively understanding of the gap your withdrawal will create in public life. My sense of personal loss is very great;

and yet my sense of the loss to the nation as a whole, is even greater. You have been over four years Secretary of War. I wonder if you yourself realize how much you have accomplished during that period. If you will turn to your first reports and will read therein the recommendations you made in order that the army might be put on an effective basis, you cannot but be pleased at the way in which these recommendations have now been adopted by congress as well as by the administration and have become enacted into law or crystallized into custom. We have never had a public servant of the government who has worked harder than you have worked during those four years and a half and this not merely in point of time, but above all in point of intensity and your success has been equal to the labor. The only return you have had, or can have, is the knowledge of successful achievement of the performance in fullest fashion of a great public duty, the doing of which was of vital importance to the nation's welfare. Your duties have included more than merely the administration of the department of the reorganization of the army on an effective basis. You have also been the head of the department which dealt with the vast and delicate points involved in our possession of the Philippine Islands, and your success in dealing with this part of your work has been as signal a success as dealing with the purely military problems. To very few statesmen indeed in any country, is it given at the one and the same time to achieve signal and striking triumphs in the administration and reform of the military branch of the government and in the administration of what was in effect a department of insular dependencies, where the problems were new to our people, and were in themselves of great difficulty. Moreover, a side from your work in these divisions of the government services, I appreciate most keenly the invaluable advice and assistance you have rendered me in innumerable matters of weight not coming directly in your department province, but in which I sought your aid with the certainty of not being disappointed. Your position on the Alaskan boundary commission at the present moment is an illustration of these services.

"May all good fortune attend you wherever you are; the American people wish you well and appreciate to the full, the debt due you for all that you have done on their behalf.

Faithfully yours,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

WILL EMBARK FOR POST.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—Right Rev. Dr. Denis J. Dougherty, recently ordained bishop of Nueva Segovia, Philippine Islands, left this city today for San Francisco, where he will embark for his post.

The bishop takes with him to the Philippines the Rev. Dr. McGinley, professor of dogmatic theology at the seminary of St. Charles Borromeo, this city; the Rev. James J. Carroll, professor of moral theology at the same institution, and Rev. James McCloskey, of this city, and the Rev. Edgar Cooke of Phoenixville.

MANY THOUSANDS OF PARTY WORKERS

Have Flocked Into Columbus to Assist in the Choosing of a Democratic State Ticket. Convention Will Be Called to Order at 9:30 O'clock Tomorrow Morning.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—The preliminary meetings of the democratic state convention here today are the most hotly contested in the history of the party in this state.

The contest between Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, and John L. Zimmerman of Springfield for the gubernatorial nomination overshadowed everything else, so that nothing is heard today of the platform, the proposed constitutional amendment or senatorial endorsement or the state ticket. If Johnson shall win at the district's meeting this afternoon and the meeting of the convention to-night he will be able to name the senatorial candidate and the rest of the ticket and control the new state central committee as well as to secure the adoption of his platform and if Zimmerman controls the district meetings of the delegates and the committee he will be nominated and the conservative will get into the control of the party. The delegates meet by congressional districts at 4 30 p. m. to select members of the committee and then the committees meet at 8 p. m. The sessions of the committees on credentials and resolutions are booked for all night sittings and those on permanent organizations, rules and order of business will be less formal than usual. The new state committee is not expected to do much tonight no matter which side shall win.

While the race between Johnson and Zimmerman has been very close for weeks, on the day of voting the odds seem to be in favor of Johnson. His arrival from Cleveland on a special train, accompanied by hundreds of shouting followers gave an impetus to his candidacy, although he had many managers and more workers here than Zimmerman before. "The triumphal march" from the station today shows that the Johnson men have the old state committee and the influence of the party organization is seen much more distinctly today than heretofore. At the same time the personality of Johnson is also effective. If the withdrawal of Bookwalter from the senatorial race caused yesterday what was called "Zimmerman's day," the developments today have evidently caused what may be called "Johnson's day."

SENATORIAL PREFERENCES

Will Not Be Expressed Until State Nominations are Made.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—The Johnson men are so much divided today on favorites for senatorial endorsement that some advocate no action in the matter but Mayor Johnson, still insists on it. The senatorial election will now no doubt come after the state nominations are made, as there is quite a free for all fight for the honor. Among those mentioned by the Johnson men are G. M. Saltzger of Van Wert, John H. Clarke of Cleveland, and John J. Lentz of Columbus, with the odds today in favor of Saltzger. The Zimmerman men are not embarrassed by the senatorial preferences as they will vote for local favorites. The Hamilton county delegates will support M. E. Ingalls and the Franklin county delegates, Allen W. Thurman, and other counties and districts, their home favorites, but the Zimmerman men are evidently much weaker in the district appointment of delegates than the Johnson men.

HELPED MAYOR JOHNSON.

In His Cross-Country Campaign of Last November.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—John H. Clark, who is Mayor Johnson's choice for the convention's endorsement for Senator, is a partner in the law firm of Cushing & Clark. He has been a life long democrat and although a sound money man, he did not bolt Bryan. It is alleged by Johnson. As an attorney he represents large corporate interests and is general counsel for the Nickel Plate railroad. Mr. Clarke was originally from Mahoning county and is very popular in the northwestern part of the state. Although he has disagreed at times with Mayor Johnson as to the taxing of railroad property, he has constantly been the Mayor's friend, and last fall took part in the Mayor's cross country campaign.

Mayor Johnson left for Columbus this morning. He was accompanied by nearly every democrat of any prominence in the city and others. The advance guard left Monday. This was composed of Chas. P. Salen, J. P. Madigan, Charles W. Lapp, M. B. Excell and others. All expressed the most utmost confidence of the mayor's nomination.

W. J. BRYAN ARRIVES

And Will be a Prominent Figure in the Convention.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Wm. J. Bryan arrived early today for the state democratic convention, which convenes this evening and the morning trains brought in hundreds of delegates. The many admirers of the Nebraska statesman welcomed him into Columbus with great enthusiasm.

ACT OF BRAVERY BRINGS A REWARD.

An Interesting Little Story Which Grew Out of an Experience During the Civil War.

New York, Aug. 25.—For an act of bravery and kindness performed during the civil war, Daniel Prime, a negro living at Eaton Penna., is reported to have been bequeathed $8,000 by Jonathan Moore of Jackson, Mich. Prime was sergeant in Co. H, 54th regiment of Massachusetts volunteers, the first negro regiment and Moore was a first lieutenant in the 11th Michigan volunteers. Both regiments participated in the capture of Fort Sumter. Lieutenant Moore had one of his legs shattered and lay bleeding to death when Prime tore his blouse to pieces, tightly bound the injured leg, and carried the helpless man to a place of safety.

Murder of Little Alphonse Wilmes. Description of Him Sent Out.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 25.—After six days work on the mysterious murder of little Alphonse Wilmes, whose mutilated body was found last Tuesday morning, among some molding planks at the rear of the Michigan Stove Co., the police today issued a circular which they are sending broadcast asking for the names of Charles Price alias Emil Waltz, on suspicion of being the murderer. The circular declares: "We have every reason to believe that Price committed the murder." Price is a molder by trade and the police say may be found working at street paving or heavy laboring. He has served time in the penitentiaries at Columbus, O., and Jackson, Mich.

TEACHING RELIGION IN CHURCH AND HOME,

Not Sufficient to Arrest Evil in the Human Heart. Must Be Taught in Schools to Christianize America.

New York, Aug. 25.—The Right Rev. Charles H. Colton was consecrated bishop of Buffalo today in St. Patrick's Cathedral, where he had been rector until appointed in the See of Buffalo. The church was crowded with the former parishioners of the new bishop. The clergy of this diocese in which Bishop Colton labored so long were represented and the sermon for the occasion was preached by Bishop John A. McPaul of Trenton. In his sermon Bishop McPaul said: "The public schools as at present constituted are inimical to church and state. Education, not Catholic education, is gradually proceeding that intellectual cultivation has no effect in arresting the evil in the human heart. It alters the direction of crime but does not amount to a teaching religion in church and the home is not sufficient. The absence of such teaching in the schools is rapidly leading youth into indifference and indifference is Christianizing America."

Then his holiness received Father Hendrick, brother of the bishop, whom he appointed private Chamberlain, a position bringing with it the title of Monsignor, saying: "I hope you have long to enjoy it, and blessing him and his people. Later Father Whitmer, rector of the English church of San Silvestro, presented to the Pope Fathers A. J. Rossi, of Boston, Mass., Hopkins, of Charleston, S. C., who brought him the congratulations of Bishop Northrop to whom the pontiff sent his thanks and blessing, to be extended to the whole diocese; J. T. Tuohy, of St. Louis, Mo., who accompanied Bishop Hendrick to the Philippines and Frank O'Connor, of Rochester, and Mrs. Hart and Mrs. and Miss Walsh, of St. Louis.

A JOLT TO HER PATRIOTIC PRIDE.

An American actress, just returned from England, tells of a great blow to her patriotic pride. She was invited to a dinner by Lady ——— at a magnificent mansion in Kensington, and was treated after the dinner to some rare singing by a celebrated vocalist. On the veranda afterward, the hostess brought two young debutantes up to our well-known actress and introduced them.

"I'm sure you will like each other, for they are Americans, too," said the titled lady, as if that settled the question of the mutual esteem of the actress and debutantes.

The actress, wishing to be cordial, greeted them pleasantly and remarked, with the intention that the hostess as well as the girls, should hear her: "Did you not enjoy the beautiful singing in the dining hall? And the acoustics were perfect, were they not?" "Yes," said one of her fellow Americans, with enthusiasm, "those acoustics were the best I ever ate."

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by H. F. Vorkamp, druggist, corner of Main and North streets.

QUITE A WINDFALL FOR THE CARPENTER.

New York, Aug. 25.—W. G. Quimby, a journeyman carpenter employed at Orange, N. J., is reported to have received notice from a Denver law firm that he is heir to a large fortune left by an uncle Hobart M. Quimby. It is said the amount is about $500,000. ## PORTO RICO.

By W. R. Strayer

Porto Rico is about 100 miles east and west by about 40 north and south, and a low range of mountains extends east and west across the island a little south of the center. The highest point is 3600 feet above the sea level. Much of the land is hilly or rolling, but is cultivated even to the tops of the mountains. However, there are vast expanses of level land, particularly near the seacoast, and in the valleys of the large rivers, much of it lying fallow, awaiting the skill of the American farmer. The island is well watered by several rivers and a multitude of smaller streams.

The climate is very mild and salubrious, the average temperature for the year being about 75 and reaching one of June weather in Ohio.

There are two seasons, the wet and the dry, but they cannot be given with definiteness. The wet season generally commences in April and lasts until the latter part of November, the interval from June to October, however, has less rainfall than the periods before and after December, January, February, and March are generally classed as the "dry" season. This is as near an explanation of the wet and dry seasons as can be given and must be received as the forecasts given out by the weather bureau—not to be depended upon implicitly.

The main products of the island are sugar cane, coffee, tobacco, cattle and fruits—and the fruits bananas especially, are the mainstay of the natives. There are few lumber forests.

Fruits are claiming their share of American money which is coming to the island, and are especially in favor with the small capitalist who cannot invest in a sugar plantation; for the machinery of a sugar plantation is very expensive and the cost runs up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, but there are numbers of sugar plantations on the island and during the grinding season the cane finds its way from the field to the mill in small low cars, for which a temporary track of steel is laid from the mill to the field right up to where the men work, an extra section being added to the track whenever necessary to bring the cars to the laborers.

The cars must keep up with the laborers so they can put the cane thereon. The cars are brought to and from the field by oxen or by a small locomotive, and the work of this kind goes on for several months of each year on the big plantations, these big mills also buy cane from the small farmer. One planting of cane will last for several years. No sugar is refined on the island, this is imported from the United States. Brown or coffee sugar, raw sugar as it is termed commercially, is the product of the mills, and this is sold in the United States where it is refined. Molasses and rum are also products of the sugar mills and rum is sold at all of the groceries and is a part of the laborer's daily ration; it is cheap—ten cents worth taken inwardly will make the average American stop work for the balance of that day, but you rarely ever see a native drunk.

The native pays from two and a half to two and three quarter cents per pound for the brown or coffee sugar which he uses. There are numbers of groceries along the road ways, ten or fifteen dollars being sufficient to start one.

Oranges, pomelos, (grape fruit) lemons, limes, bananas, guavas, pine apples and numbers of other fruits, many of them unknown to United States trade generally, but highly appreciated on the island, grow luxuriantly almost everywhere and you can find fruit in abundance any month of the year.

The coconut bears in seven years from the time the nut is planted, and from the time it first begins to bear, up to the age of seventy-five years it will always have fruit upon it in some stage of its growth, and most of this time it will have ripe nuts as well as green ones and nuts just starting—all at the same time. That which we see in our markets is the ripened nut, and the milk in it has neither the flavor, quality nor the quantity that is known in Porto Rico, for there you may drink it in every stage, from the time the first gelatine condition of the meat begins to the time it begins to harden and form the ripened nut of commerce. The milk in the nut is more in quantity while the gelatine condition obtains, and before the milk is absorbed into the meat of the nut, or to be plainer before it is ripe. The price is the same for the nut "dry" as the ripe nut is called, or for the "coco de agua" which is the name given to the nut before ripe and in that state when best suited to be used as a drink. Two to three cents each is the usual price. It is a cool refreshing drink and is much indulged in by all classes. The amount of milk will vary according to size of the nut and the stage of ripeness—a half pint to a pint and more per nut—and it is usually drunk out of the nut by making an opening in one end with the machete about the size of a silver quarter of a dollar or the silver half dollar.

The banana is always in evidence and its season is also every day of the year; it fruits in a year from the first planting. Limes are to be had the year round also. Oranges can be had for about nine months of the year, but the shipping of oranges commences about November the first, and is done with by March the first of each year. Setting out orange groves promises to be a great industry there and this fruit is as fine as anywhere in the world.

No finer pine apples can be grown anywhere than in Porto Rico and it requires eighteen months from the time of planting to the first crop harvest and afterwards for five or six years, there will be a crop each year.

Market gardening as a business is in the experimental stage at the present time, most of these products being raised by the natives in their usual desultory fashion, and for the island market only, but all garden products can be raised any month in the year.

Sheep soon lose their wool after reaching Porto Rico, and it never comes back, but instead hair takes its place.

Cattle are large in size, and cattle raising is profitable. The Porto Rican cattle are of the Andalusian breed, the main idea being their use for draft purposes. The cows are neither deep nor rich milkers. No shelter is needed and they can graze every day of the year. There is no hay made, the climate being too moist and green food is used all the year. There is no cessation in the growth of anything as far as I could learn—unless affected by drouth. Grass as high as wheat at harvest is cut and tied up into bundles as much in winter as in the summer, and sells at from three to four cents per bundle, the bundles being about the size of a sheaf of wheat, and is the principal feed for horses and oxen, this grass can be cut every sixty days during the wet season. The natives feed almost no grain to his stock.

The land is fertile, and in many localities will bring from $100 to $200 per acre, again, there are many localities where land is very cheap, $10 per acre and occasionally less, but the land this cheap will have the disadvantage of poor transportation facilities.

The roads are very bad during the wet season and much of the time are impassable for vehicles, but while the country roads are bad there are a few macadamized roads which are unexcelled anywhere and are known as "Military roads," the one leading from the capital, San Juan, on the north side of the island to Ponce on the south side, is 82 miles in length. Many roads have been and are being macadamized by the Americans since American occupation in 1898, and the building of a good system of macadamized roads is the recognized policy of the island's government.

There are at present about 220 kilometers of narrow gauge steam railway extending with frequent breaks of many miles in length, from Carolina, 22 miles east of San Juan, around the west coast to Ponce on the south side.

There is a trolley line, 7 miles long, from San Juan to Rio Piedras, and another connecting Ponce and its port, 1 1/2 miles distant.

Another trolley line is building to connect San Juan and Ponce by a direct course across the island and others projected that will open up thousands of acres of rich land now so isolated as to be of little value.

The electric railway is exactly suited to the needs of the island on account of the heavy grades that render the construction and operation of steam railways extremely costly except around the coast where the country is level.

The ox is the beast of burden, and the wagon used is a two-wheeled affair strong enough to carry two or three tons. At the present time this is the sole means of heavy freight transportation to the interior.

There are generally two men, or a man of a boy, with each ox team, whether there are two or four oxen, and one of them, usually the boy, walks in front of the team and is the driver; he generally carries a pole six feet or more in length sharpened at one end and when he wishes to hurry up his team, he prods his ox with the sharpened point; this point is frequently of steel and is not uncanny for it to draw blood from the ox which he prods. The oxen are not trained to go to the right or left by the voice and by the cracking of the whip about the horns as in the south the Porto Rican driver invariably walks in front of his oxen and uses his prod when he wishes to guide them. The yoke which they use has no bows as is the case with us, but instead the yoke is roped to the horns, a thick cloth or pad first being placed upon the forehead just below the horns, to prevent the rope from chafing the head.

The horse is only a pony, and will weigh from 500 to 700 pounds, rarely more; his forte is the heavy loads which he carries upon his back in addition to the pack (laborer).

The Blood is the Life

Thus said one of the greatest physicians of modern times. If the blood is pure, then the individual is strong and healthy. If the blood is impure, then there is sickness and decay in the whole system. The duty of the Kidneys is to filter the blood, which circulates through them for that purpose, cleansing it from all impurities, worn-out matter and uric acid, collected in its journey from the heart through the system. To purify the blood we must first be sure that the Kidneys are in order. We cannot get pure water from a foul filter, neither can we get pure rich blood from diseased Kidneys. If the Kidneys are out of order, they cannot filter the impurities and uric acid from the blood, resulting in Rheumatism, gout, pain in the back, urinary troubles and kindred diseases. IRVING'S BUCHU WAFERS cure Rheumatism to stay cured, by removing the cause. They put the Kidneys in a healthy condition, enabling them to discharge the blood to the heart pure and healthful, with all uric acid, the presence of which in the blood is the cause of Rheumatism and all other blood diseases, eliminated. Mr. John Knowlton's experience, which he relates in a recent letter, is just the same as many others who have written in thankfulness for their cure. Mr. Knowlton's says:

"As a sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism for nearly twenty years, I think I may safely say that I have tried almost a hundred remedies; old women's recipes, physicians' prescriptions and patent medicines. Many of them relieved me for a time, but the first slight cold brought back the Rheumatism. One day I picked up a circular of Irving's Buchu Wafers and started to read it. I was not much interested at first, but when I began to read how the kidneys were responsible for Rheumatism, I began to pay attention and the common sense statements made such an impression that I immediately bought a box. Well, I took the whole box and had no Rheumatism for a month, but a slight cold brought it back, but not so bad as previously. This encouraged me, and I bought six boxes. I took them all faithfully, and it is now nine months since I had a twinge of the Rheumatism, so that I feel that I am really cured. After the experience that I had with other so-called remedies for Rheumatism, you will understand how glad I am to be able to fly to the merits of Irving's Buchu Wafers. They certainly did all that is claimed for them in my case."

IRVING'S BUCHU WAFERS are nature's own remedy for the cure of Bright's Disease, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bladder troubles, Dropsical Swellings, Gout, Gravel, Jaundice, Diabetes, Female Complaints and Irregularities, and are a positive cure for all Diseases and Blood Impurities which are directly or indirectly traceable to deranged action of the Kidneys. They are pleasant to the taste, being sugar coated, and are prepared by the Irving Drug Co., Philadelphia. Price, fifty cents. There are many imitations of the IRVING'S BUCHU WAFERS on the market, but do not be satisfied with anything but the genuine.

To California Through Colorado

By all odds the most intensely interesting way to California is through Denver and Salt Lake City, past all the magnificent Colorado scenery by daylight, and around Cape Horn on the Sierra Nevadas. Another thing about this route is its peculiar freedom from severe storms and washouts which cause vexatious delays. Generally the sun shines clear and bright all the way. Our personally conducted excursion parties from Chicago and St. Louis go the way every week. Ask your nearest ticket agent about them, or send to me for one of our folders describing the trip.

TWAIN'S LITTLE JOKE.

Bishop William Croswell Doane, of Albany, recently entertained J. Pierpont Morgan, of Northeast Harbor. Bishop Doane was at one time the rector of an Episcopal church in Hartford, and the services at this church Mark Twain would occasionally attend. Twain one day, played a joke upon the rector.

"Dr. Doane," he said, at the end of the service. "I enjoyed your sermon this morning. I welcomed it like an old friend. I have, you know, a book at home containing every word of it."

"You have not," said Dr. Doane.

"I have so," said the humorist.

"Well, send that book to me. I'd like to see it."

"I'll send it," Twain replied.

And he sent the next morning an unabridged dictionary to the rector.

Like a Woman.

"If you'll notice," said Finnick, the poets invariably say 'she' when referring to the earth. Why should the earth be considered feminine?"

"Why not? Nobody knows just how old the earth is."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A Judge's Romance
I am a man of dignity. It has been asserted that I have a certain pompos-ity about me. While I am a bachelor of forty-five no man has ever charged me with any softness toward the other sex.
My position was thus when the courts were closed for the summer season of a certain year and I retired to my usual resort on the seashore.
It may not strike you as quite consistent when I say that a few days after my arrival a woman appeared who caught my attention. She was registered as "Mrs.," and it was understood that her husband would appear later.
She was handsome, well formed, refined—in all outward respects a lady.
I did not have speech with her, but I admitted to myself that but for my dignity and position I might have attempted what is legally known as a wild flirtation.
People seemed to understand intuitively that a judge of special sessions
did not care to hear about trifles, and so no gossip was poured into my ears.
However, I learned later on seven or eight rooms were robbed inside of a week. The robberies occurred by day, and generally at meal times, and the plunder was money and jewelry. In one case the loss amounted to $500. In another to $800, in a third to over $1, 000.
After the first complaint had been made the landlord set a watch, but in the face of that three more rooms were plundered and a confiding guest who kept several hundred dollars in his trunk instead of the hotel safe found it missing one day after luncheon. Then two detectives were employed, and all the 250 guests felt themselves under espionage, if not suspicion—all but I.
How could landlords, detective or any one else suspect the integrity of Judge Coke?
The robberies ceased as suddenly as they had begun, but for reasons known to themselves the detectives decided
to search the baggage of certain guests,
one of whom was the handsome Mrs.
Blank. I heard nothing of this at the time, but as I left my room on the day of the search I encountered the lady with a small package in her hand and
she frankly said to me:
"Judge Coke, I have not had the honor of an introduction, but I wish to have a favor of you. As the clerks are busy this morning, and as the porter
does not look like a man to be trusted,
you would put me under many obligations by taking this package to the express office. It is directed to my husband, as you see, and contains papers that he must have soon. I am sorry to thus impose upon your good nature,
but—"
"Say no more, madam," I interrupted.
As I took the package from her, "I shall be only too happy to be of service
to you."
I may have smiled as I lifted my hat and bowed, but I contend that I lost none of my dignity, and of course I did not make it an excuse for any extended conversation.
I met her on the street, a full block
from the hotel, upon my return, but as I handed her over the receipt I merely raised my hat again and spoke of the weather.
The search was made quietly and
with the consent of the guests, but it proved futile.
The next three days passed without excitement, and I took it into my head
to order a carriage and be driven out.
It has always been my opinion that a judge looks well as he rides out in a landau with head erect and arms folded.
I was being bowled along the boulevard connecting my resort with one five miles away, with my driver fully conscious of my dignity and importance, when a parcel was waved at me from the sidewalk, and I made out a lady at the end of it. More than that, I made out Mrs. Blank, who said to me as my carriage halted at the curb:
"Judge Coke, were you going to drive
over to Surf City?"
"I am on my way there, madam," I replied as my hat came off at the proper angle.
"Then—then—"
"What is it, madam?"
"I have a friend over there who is ill, and there is no train for two hours.
I knew it is presumption on my part,
but—"
"Not at all, madam. Let me assist you in. I will have you there in three quarters of an hour, and the obligation
will be mine."
There were no languishing smiles, no gookoo eyes on my part. Indeed, I think that most of our conversation
during the drive referred to the law directly or indirectly. I was a bit surprised that she should ask to be set down on the public square instead of
at her friend's house, but dignity forbade me even to raise my eyebrows.
She bowed and returned thanks; I raised my hat and murmured, "Don't mention it," and we parted.
My position demanded that I should forget her as soon as possible or until I met her at breakfast next morning,
and I had fairly succeeded when I returned to the hotel two hours later.
Then she rushed back into my memory at a bound. The landlord and the detectives were looking for her. It had become known that she was an ad-venturess whose photograph adorned more than one rogues' gallery and who had even "done time" for theft. It was she who had cleaned out the rooms
and given me the plunder to express away, and it was she who had robbed the hotel safe of about $2,000 at the noon hour as the clerk left for a moment. I had driven her over to Surf City that she might take the train and thus elude the detectives.

THE FIRST TAILOR.
HE MONOPOLIZED THE SARTORIAL
TRADE OF THE WORLD.
His Methods Were Crude, and His Materials Were Rather Grotesque,
but He Turned Out Good, Honest Work, Hand Stitched Throughout.
The first industry of the world was tailoring. The first maker of clothes and the first wearer was Adam. Of this strange character who appears on the pages of history in the dual role of the first tailor and the first customer we have but a brief biography. The meager details require sympathetic interpretation to make up a complete story. Of his father and mother no mention is made, but the record shows he was destined to be a clothier of some sort, for he was put into Eden to "dress" the garden. We do not know if he obeyed this command, as his biographers do not so state, for, it seems, instead of "dressing" the garden he "dressed" himself.
His early marriage and the trouble relating to the theft of some fruit with sundry other unpleasant details preceded his work as a tailor. He began in a humble way; just himself and one assistant. He was one of the early settlers in a newly opened country, a land of natural advantages which must soon attract other inhabitants. With a large and increasing population he foresees that there must come a growing demand for clothing if he could introduce them and make popular his new invention. He was a pioneer. He had no competition. He controlled the tailoring trade of the world. Thus with the first industry came the first trust.
As he busily plied his needle we know not what visions of future business and wealth filled his ambitious mind. But never in his wildest dreams did he conceive that his little tailoring establishment, employing only four hands, doing only a local trade and turning out the first custom made garment, would be the beginning of a ready made clothing business that in the United States alone gives labor to hundreds of thousands of hands and covers an investment of a great many million dollars.
But of the great wealth that has come from his invention Adam, like most pioneers, made no money whatever and died leaving his family with not a penny. Even his name is not associated with his wonderful discovery,
but—such is the sarcasm of time—it appears only in the word Adam's apple,
in memory not of his virtues, but of an escapee of his wife.
Though even Carlyle has not recognized Adam's sartorial genius, there are some capital points in the work of this first tailor.
He originated the style himself. He was not a petty trader on the reputation of others and imitating their fashions. Even in the names for the garments he was original. The first suit of clothes, in reality only a girdle or belt, he humorously termed an "apron."
It is difficult to determine the season of the year. Judging from the coolness of the suit, it might have been a summer style, but as it was just a little after the fall it was probably early in the winter.
They were hand stitched throughout.
They contained no machine work or cheap labor. The workshop was in the open air, and, although tailored in the sweat of his brow, no sweatshop work
was possible.
The material was not of the best, but Adam found no better at hand. Some of the modern tailors, making shoddy garments at shoddy prices, imitate Adam, who used "leavings."
As to Adam, the first customer, when he was alone in the world he never thought of dress, but when he came to the realization of himself as an individual and in relation to others he began to spruce up. Courtship led him to beautify himself, to appear well in the eyes of "the only woman he ever loved." Human nature has not changed much.
With the entry of society dress began. Perhaps this is why dress forms so prominent a feature in society today.
After eating the apple of knowledge
the mind of Adam was suddenly illuminated as if by a thousand electric lights. A great thought of large, practical, worldly wisdom flashed before him. He realized that to amount to anything in the world he must make a good appearance. In this he struck a keystone of business success.
Surely he needed to keep up appearances. He reflected over his actions for the two weeks prior and then looked at his future. He had been in bad society and had been seen with a disreputable serpent, he had broken the law,
he was implicated in an apple theft as accessory after the fact, he had some of the stolen goods in his possession and he was a fugitive from justice, for he was then in "hiding." Discovery was certain. He was to be evicted from his home and in disgrace had to face the awfulness of actually earning his own living by work. Then, after a wild attack of remorse, he was equal to the situation and in a manly way accepted it, made himself a suit of clothes
in which he could make a decent appearance and began life anew with the courage, hope, pride and confidence that comes from the consciousness of being well dressed.—William George Jordan in Fashioner.

"John W. Bookwalter should be

MIMIC WARFARE OFF NEW ENGLAND
In Which the Army Is Attempting to Overcome the Navy.
Portland, Me., Aug. 25.—When the bugles sounded in the various camps
around Portland Harbor, yesterday,
the army of defense which is to protect this city from any enemy's fleet, considered itself prepared for any move which the hostile commander might make. The hostile fleet, the part of which is to be played by about 25 vessels of the north Atlantic squadron under Rear Admiral Barker, is off the coast, having sailed from Rockland yesterday. Eight warships were in sight from the observatory off Seguin
this morning, including three battleships, three destroyers and two tenders.
When the war vessels were sighted
the following order was sent from the observation, the district headquarters
on Cushing's Islands: "The flagship Kearsage with eight vessels of Admiral Barker's fleet has come to anchor off Seguin."
The following order was at once issued: "Information that a hostile fleet was on its way to attack Portland has been confirmed and it is now known that the fleet is destined for Portland harbor. Post commanders with all possible despatch will complete preparations for restraining the attack which undoubtedly will be made about 12 o'clock tonight."

A man giving his name as Sam Cohen, of Titusville, Pa., and who was quite groggy, complained to the police
this morning that he had been robbed of a check for $4. He said that he slept under a tent on the public square and that he believed some one had "doped" him. The police went to work on the case immediately and policeman Ferguson arrested Fred Jackson, a laborer, who was identified as the person who had had the missing
check cashed at an east Market street saloon early this morning. Officer Billstein also arrested a friend of Jackson's, a man giving his name as Amos Swanson, who was with Jackson
when the check was cashed. The latter also had a complaint made against him by street railway employees who charged him with reckless driving,
and with having threatened to shoot
a motorman. The prisoners have not yet been arraigned.

Double Suicide Is Attempted.
Girl Will Die.
Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 25.—With bullet wounds in the breast and clapped in each others arms, Obersol Latimore, aged 25, a well to do Hungarian, of Homestead, and Ellen Ringle, aged 18 years, of Allegheny City, were found lying on a bed unconscious, in a little house at Door Terrace, near Homestead, early today. The girl's wounds are fatal and her death is expected at any moment, but the young man will probably recover. The couple had been lovers for a long time but their parents refused to consent to the marriage. Pinned to the girls dress was a note stating, on account of the objection to their marriage, they had decided to die together, as they could not live apart.
RAIN CAUSED
POSTPONEMENT.
Reading, Mass., Aug. 25.—The grand circuit races scheduled for today were postponed on account of rain.

RELIANCE WON
change for a still larger one. The tug therefore kept her head up into the wind while the sail was sent down and the big one was substituted. This work consumed 15 minutes. The signal was hoisted for a triangular course, the regatta committee tug Navigator coming to anchor about half a mile to the westward of the lightship.
The Shamrock Handicapped.
New York, Aug. 25.—Apparently the Shamrock was handicapped about 25 seconds, as she crossed that much after the handicap gun fired. Thus her time of starting is 11:02:00 although she crossed some seconds
later.
Both Ships Cross the Line.
New York, Aug. 25.—11:05 a. m.—
Reliance crossed the line on the starboard tack but Shamrock held away too long and was behind the handicap
gun. She immediately on reaching the line came about on the port tack and headed for the Jersey shore. Reliance followed at once.
The Reliance Again in the Lead.
New York, Aug. 25.—11:25 a. m.—
Reliance has lead of quarter of a mile.
A Beat Down the Jersey Shore.
Five minutes after the regatta committee had set the signal for a triangular race, the three sets of flags were broken out on the Tralic stay, denot-ing the direction of the three legs. As read from shore the first leg was south, giving the boats a beat down the Jersey shore. The next was northeast by east one half east which
under the conditions of the wind prevailing at the time would give the yachts a broad reach from the first to the second mark on the star board tack. The next leg was northwest
by west to the finish at the lightship,
another broad reach on the port tack.
FIGHT FOR POSITION
In Which Tactics Were Followed Similar to the Last Race.
New York, Aug. 25.—The preliminary signal was fired at 10:45 and immediately after the fight for position began. As usual Reliance followed Shamrock in her various maneuvers about the line, going very far away from the point. When the preliminary gun was fired both were to the eastward of the lightship a bit, but returned and began sailing up and down the line. When the warning signal was fired, the Shamrock was close to the committee boat. She immediately headed along the line on the star board tack and Reliance coming down from the windward, attempted to blanket her. Both boats, four minutes before the start were holding across the line on the star board tack
with Reliance on Shamrock weather quarter. Then they both were back with Shamrock in the lead and came for the eastern end on the line of the port tack. Reliance however kept right after her, in the meantime a great tank boat came plunging between the yachts and Reliance was forced to head away. She went to the stern of the committee boat and swinging around headed for the line on the star board tack. Contrary to his usual custom, Capt. Wringe kept away and was two or three hundred yards to the westward of the committee boat when the Reliance coming underneath the stern of the committee boat crossed the line at 11:00.27 (unofficial).
Capt. Wringe held away too long before coming about and heading for the line with the result that he was under the stern of the committee boat
when the handicap gun was fired.
11:42:30—Reliance tacked to star board having held the port tack since 11:03.
11:43:30—Shamrock goes about on star board tack after getting to the weather of Reliance's wake. It looks as if Shamrock had gained on Reliance during the past five minutes.
Official Time of Start.
Official time of start via tug:
Reliance 11:00:36;
Shamrock 11:02:00.
12:30 p. m.—The Reliance went on port tack at 12:21:05; Shamrock 12:23:35. The weather is very hazy and it is difficult to discern the yachts.
12:40 p. m.—As the Reliance crossed the line a minute and twenty-four seconds ahead of the Shamrock, she will have to lead the challenger at the finish at least three minutes and 21 seconds to win the race.
Two minutes after the start she ran up onto the line on the star board tack and then came about and headed for the Jersey shore on the port tack.
It looked as if she had lost about 25 seconds by slowness in reaching the line. Both brought out jib top sails just before the start.
11:45—Both boats were heading off shore on the star board tack, the Reliance in the lead, but the Shamrock pointing fully as high. The wind began to shift to west of south and it looked as though the boats would be able to turn the first mark without another tack.

This tack proved to be fully as long as the first one and the race was developing into an exciting contest.
Neither boat seemed to be able to secure any decided advantage, although the Reliance was leading, the Shamrock held the windward position.
At 12:21 the Reliance went about on the port tack and headed in shore.
The Shamrock followed at 12:23:35.
At this time the weather was thick and it was difficult to discern the yachts in the haze.
AMERICAN TACTICS
Proved Very Advantageous Over
Those of the Challenger.
New York, Aug. 25.—A story is started that Capt. Barr outgeneraled his rival, Capt. Wringe, at the outset.
He sent the Reliance across the starting line one minute and 24 seconds ahead of Shamrock III. More than that the American was a full quarter of a mile to the windward of the British boat. The start of today's race, accordingly lacked all of the thrilling features which made the beginning on Saturday's contest, a slight note to be remembered. A few minutes before the starting gun was fired, Shamrock III seemed to go away. For the moment it appeared that something had gone wrong aboard. She overran the committee boat at the leeward end of the line and when the starting signal was fired, the Lipton boat was away to leeward of the line and the handicap gun boomed as the cup hunter bore down across the line and got away. Experts said it was amateurish; at all events the American was off under decidedly encouraging conditions. The official time of the start was: Reliance 11:00:36, Shamrock III, 11:02:00.
The wind at this time was puffy
from the south, southeast and had not exceeded four miles. It hauled around more to the southeast and half an hour later had freshened to six knots.
The excursion fleet was hardly as large as on Saturday but the spectacle was impressive. The patrol fleet succeeded for a brief interval in giving the yacht wide sea room. Between the first two guns as the boats were running along to the leeward of the line, tank steamer interfered somewhat with the movements of the racers.
The Reliance Wins.
New York, Aug. 25.—Reliance was
by 1 minute and 19 seconds
By tug official time finish: Reliance 2 15.30; Shamrock 2 20 10. Reliance elapsed 3 14.54. Shamrock elapsed 3 18 10
ALL QUIET TODAY
IN PORT VUE STRIKE.
McKeesport, Pa., Aug. 25.—Everything was quiet today in the Port Vue strike. The management of the mill claim they have all ten mills running full today. Harry Carson, a striker, who was arrested last night for being mixed up in the riot, but was released on bail, was re-arrested this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. Chief of police Rotsch refused to take bail for him.

From indications to date, the record of new operations in Allen county will not be so promising for this month as has been the rule during the previous months of the summer. However, operators are keeping at it with commendable energy, and there will be something doing for a long time to come.

Weill & Johnson, have another very fair well in the Bath township district, east of town. Their No. 3, on the A. J. Young farm, in section 9, started off at a 65 barrel per day gait.

J. O. Hoover's No. 10, on the G. R. Fetter farm, in section 27, Bath, was credited with 40 barrels.

The Oil News Co., finished Nos. 5 and 6 on the J. F. Boose farm, in section 29, Bath, the initial output being about 25 barrels for each well.

In Sugar Creek township, P. S. Gilbert & Co., got a 40 barreler at No. 2, on the J. C. Good farm, section 4.

The Elgin Natural Gas & Oil Co. has a couple of light ones in the Sugar Creek district, their No. 1, R. M. Price, section 23, making 10 barrels while No. 5, E. J. Davis, section 34, was good for only 2 barrels, the first day.

The test well drilled by Smith & Neely, on the R. Harpster farm, in section 2, Sugar Creek, east of the railroad, was a fair pumper, doing 20 barrels the first day.

Northwest of Lima, in section 23, of German township, the Ohio Oil Co. has finished a well on the W. P. Bloom farm, which proves to be very light. It will not make more than 4 or 5 barrels.

The Ohio No. 6, D. Miller, in section 10, German, was a 20 barrel well, and J. D. Downing & Co.'s No. 5, W. C. Creman, section 19, of the same township, started at 18 barrels.

The Ohio has a fair one in No. 5, J. P. Barnet, section 12, Marion, west of Elda. Its first 24 hour gauge showed an output of 32 barrels.

Aiken Bros. completed their No. 6, on the L. Croft farm, in section 16, of Amanda township, about two miles south and a little west of Conant, and it is rated at about 25 barrels.

Near Kill station, in section 22, of Spencer township, the Cambridge & Lima Oil Co.'s No. 4, on the John Metzger farm, was a 25 barrel producer. H. S. Smith drilled his 11th well on the J. A. Keeth farm, in section 12, of Spencer township, west of the town of Spencer, and has a 35 barrel well.

South of Beaver Dam, in section 9, of Jackson township, the second venture by Leslie & Johnston, on the L. Woods farm, was but a fair well, doing 40 barrels at the start.

The Royal Oil Co.'s No. 4, A. Shinsberry, in section 4, Jackson, was light, making 10 barrels the first day.

The United States Petroleum Co. has a pretty good one at No. 9, on the R. Mahaffey farm, section 7, Jackson, three miles south of Beaver Dam. It was good for 75 barrels the first day. The same company's No. 3, W. Sawyer in section 5, Jackson, made 10 bbls.

Good Ones in Van Wert. The western edge of the Ohio City pool has been furnishing the best producers in the entire Buckeye district during the past 10 days, and the Ohio Oil Co. has three new ones that are much better than the average. It's No. 6, on the Timothy Alger farm, section 25, Wilshire township, made 160 barrels natural, the first 24 hours after it was drilled in, and No. 7, on the same farm, was good for 145 barrels natural. Both have been put to pumping without a shot. The same company's No. 3, on the same farm, was finished up last week, and made 100 barrels the first 24 hours. These wells are located in the pool which the Ohio secured long after that portion of the field had seemed to have been condemned, and there has been quite a list of the good big ones.

The Trio Oil Co. has another very fair pumper in its No. 9, A. Miller, section 27, Liberty, south of Ohio City. This well made 100 barrels the first day. On the W. H. Ayres farm, Nos. 7 and 8, were light, doing about 10 barrels each.

Wilbur, Herring & Murdock drilled three new wells on the Chris. Hummel farm, in section 27, of Pleasant township, Van Wert county, south of Van Wert, one of which was dry. The others made 5 and 15 barrels respectively, the first day.

Aiken, Bailey & Cook's No. 2, R. T. Owens, in section 3, of York township, was a 10 barrel well.

In Auglaize county, the Elgin Natural Gas & Oil Co.'s test well on the John F. Craft farm, section 13, Noble township, is very light, good for not more than 4 or 5 barrels.

Little Vote Was Needed For Election

Of a Successor to Prof. Zellers.

Two More Teachers Ask to Have Their Resignations Accepted

And the Teachers Committee Will Have Other Appointments to Recommend Before the Term Begins.

At the board of education meeting last night, there was a lot of promiscuous business transacted, but nothing of quite so much importance as the resignation of two teachers, and the failure to elect a successor to Prof. Zellers, who resigned as a member of the corps of high school instructors, thus leaving a vacancy in the science department.

It was up to the teachers committee to make a selection, and it was the unanimous recommendation to appoint W. W. Parmenter, a resident of Mt. Vernon, O., but who has recently been teaching at Oskaloosa, Ia. He is a graduate of the Ohio State University, and has taken a special course in science. Mr. Parmenter was telegraphed for, but only arrived at 8:30, too late to meet members of the board who would have no doubt voted for him after an interview. As it was, he received seven votes out of the eleven present, and Miss Dismar, who was on the negative side, later requested that her vote be recorded with the majority, but President Prophet declined to consider it.

The resignation of two teachers, Miss Lella McGuire and Miss Amy Light, leaves an opening for the cadets, who went through the training school, last year, and are now eligible to positions as teachers. The resignations were accepted, and when school opens in September, there will be several changes in moving forward, the more advanced teachers to make room for those of less experience.

Bernice Fletcher and Lenora Godfrey, both graduates of the high school, were admitted to the training school.

The question of an over-crowded condition of the schools was again broached by Dr. Bates, who called particular attention to the Reese avenue building, and his motion to have a suitable school built for the overflow in Watt town, was carried.

During the session, a number of promiscuous matters received attention, all of which related to preparation of the opening of the full term. Repairs were suggested, and the various committees instructed in regard to having the necessary fuel on hand. The sanitary committee was also instructed to have all of the buildings fumigated before the scholars were called into session.

Prof. Miller made a report on several matters and called especial attention to the teachers' examination which will be held on Saturday, Sept. 5, preceding the teachers institute on the 7th. The schools in the city will open on Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Two teachers were transferred. Prof. Thoms going to the west building as principal, to succeed Miss Caldwell, resigned, and Miss Grafton going from Reese avenue to Spring street. Prof. Thoms will receive a salary of $80 per month and Miss Grafton $75.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS!

The city board of school examiners of Lima, will hold a meeting for the examination of applicants at the Holland block, Saturday, September 5th, 1903, beginning at 8 o'clock a. m.

City teachers' institute will be held at the same place, Monday, Sept. 7, beginning at 8 o'clock. Schools will open on the 9th of September.

C. C. MILLER, Clerk of Board of Examiners.

An alarm was rung from box 54, corner Main and Circular at 1:15 this afternoon. The fire was in the hollow just north of Circular street. A crowd of boys had a "shanty" there, and it caught fire in some way. No damage resulted beyond the destruction of the "shanty."

DESPERATE EFFORT MADE

By Striking Waiters and Cooks to Re-deem Laurels Lost Yesterday.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Striking waiters and cooks made another desperate effort today to put into effect the strike order which yesterday proved almost a failure. Pickets were posted about all the establishments where strikers were called to stop if possible the men from working. Committees also visited other restaurants to call out their employees, meeting with but indifferent success. An appeal for aid to the steam power council which controls the light, heat and power in the big cafes and restaurants resulted in the appointment of a representative of the organization to investigate the movement.

Positive Proof of Pinkham's Cures

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of woman-kind is not because it is a stimulant, nor because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructive ever discovered to act directly upon the whole uterine system, positively curing disease and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

One of Many Women Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Without Submitting to an Operation, Writes:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was a great sufferer for three years, had some of the leading physicians, and they all said nothing but an operation would cure me, but to that I would not submit. I picked up a paper and saw your advertisement and made up my mind to try your medicine. I had falling and inflammation of the womb and a flow of whites all the time, pains across small of back, severe headache, did not know what it was to be without a pain or an ache until I used your medicine. After three months' use of it, I felt like a new woman. I still sound the praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. A. Cowan, 1804 Bainbridge St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A Graduate Nurse, Convinced by Cures, Endorses Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She Writes:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ministering to the sick I have had numerous chances to compare Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with other medicines in cases of diseases of women, and the number of cures recorded where your medicine was used convinced me that it is the safest and surest medicine for a sick woman. Doctors certainly must know the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am convinced that you deserve the splendid record you have made.—Yours very truly, Mrs. CATHERINE JACKSON, 709 Beaubien St., Detroit, Mich." (Graduate Nurse and President Detroit Emergency Association.)

Many Physicians Admit that no Medicine Known to the Profession Equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound for the Cure of Woman's Ills, and We are Permitted to Publish the Following:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It gives me great pleasure to state that I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very efficacious, and have often prescribed it for female difficulties. My oldest daughter found it very beneficial for uterine trouble some two years ago, and my youngest daughter is using it for female weakness, and as a tonic, and is slowly but surely gaining strength and health. I freely advocate it as a most reliable specific in all disorders which women are subject to, and give it honest endorsement.—Yours very truly, SARAH C. BRIGHAM, M.D., 4 Brigham Park, Fitchburg, Mass."

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ill, as they know by experience that it can be relied upon to effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. No living person has had such a vast and successful experience in treating female ill. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice.

A Physician Healed.

Dr. George Ewing, a practicing physician of Smiths Grove, Ky., for over thirty years, writes his personal experience with Foley's Kidney Cure: "For years I had been greatly bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and enlarged prostate gland. I used every known remedy to the profession without relief, until I commenced to use Foley's Kidney Cure. I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe it now daily in my practice, and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles. I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success."

THE GIRDLE.

The completion of the Pacific cable which enabled President Roosevelt to celebrate the Fourth of July by sending a message around the world from Oyster Bay, incidentally greeting Gov. Taft, at Manila, is one of the unforeseen results of the Spanish war and the acquisition of the Philippines, which are to have a momentous effect upon the commercial, and perhaps the political, destiny of the far east. It is particularly gratifying that this great enterprise has been achieved by private capital, without aid from the government, and has been accomplished so speedily. Its service to the government and to private business, will not be any less on that account, while it will encourage the policy of leaving such commercial undertakings to private initiative, with proper encouragement and support from public authority, and complete safeguards for all concerned. The fact that the cable from San Francisco to Manila touches only American territory is due to a remarkable series of circumstances, apart from that which gave Manila itself to the United States. Perhaps there was some foresight in acquiring the island of Guam from Spain while the rest of the Ladronez were left in her possession, but the coming of Hawaii under our sovereignty had been virtually determined before the acquisition of the Philippines was thought of, while the ownership of the essential stepping stone of the Midway Islands was a happy accident. These little coral stations in the mid-Pacific were acquired by discovery more than thirty-five years ago, and were regarded as practically worthless, but they became suddenly invaluable as a station for the ocean cable on its way across the wide ocean.

The distance by cable from San Francisco to Manila is about 8,000 miles, divided between 2,275 to Honolulu, 1,250 thence to Midway Islands, nearly 2,000 over the long stretch from there to Guam, and a little less than 1,500 from Guam to Manila. A telegraphic message from Washington to Manila will traverse about 11,000 miles as compared to considerably more than 14,000 by the eastern route, but the cost is to be reduced from $150 to 50 cents a word. It will effect a material saving to the government, as well as greatly facilitate and increase commercial communication. The number of relays will be reduced from 15 to 4, effecting a considerable saving in time as well as expense. The course of the message around the world westward is nearly direct to Manila, but thence it zigzags by land and sea to Hongkong, Saigon, Singapore, Penang, Madras, Bombay, Aden, Suez, Alexandria, Malta, Gibraltar, Lisbon, the Azores, and Canoe on the Nova Scotia coast and thence to New York. It is a curious result of the unequal race between electricity and the course of sunlight around the earth that, according to the almanac, a message starting from here in the morning is at Honolulu at 11 o'clock at night and at Manila at 6 o'clock tonight, while it traverses India this afternoon and reaches New York within an hour of the time it started.—New York Journal

CONFLICT IN HIGH CIRCLES.

Rear Admiral Evans and Governor Taft Clash Over Military Assignments.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—A conference has been held in the war department between acting secretary of the navy, Darling, and acting secretary of war, Sanger, to settle a long pending controversy between Governor Taft and Rear Admiral Evans, commanding the Asiatic station. The controversy has at times waxed rather tart and this is not the first time these departments have been appealed to. The question at issue is whether naval officers attached to the Asiatic station and demanded for duty in the Philippine Islands are under jurisdiction of the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station or the civil government of the Philippines.

It is charged that Admiral Evans who has been in this position, has been detaching naval officers from duty in the Philippines without consultation with Governor Taft. He recently ordered Lieut. Commander James H. Heim, who since March, 1899, has been on duty at Cavite, to return to the fleet. Governor Taft desired Lieut. Commander Heim to remain on duty at Cavite. No definite decision was reached at today's conference. Acting Secretary Darling said Secretary Moody had previously passed on this same matter and he did not care to go back on the secretary's action. Meanwhile the order for Lieut. Commander Heim's detachment stands.

RECORD BREAKER IN INTENSE HEAT.

Great Suffering and Many Fatalities from the Effects of the August Sun. Mercury Reached Almost to the Hundred Mark.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Yesterday was the hottest day in the year in Chicago. At 2 p. m., the thermometer in the weather bureau stood at 92 degrees, and on the street level, the record was one degree higher. There were six prostrations during the day, one man falling dead in the street. The heat continued all night, and in the tenement districts of the west side, where scarcely a breath of air stirred, the suffering was great. Men, women and children lay on the sidewalks, on stairways and on roofs.

GLOBE SIGHTS.

"Sunny" people are about as apt to be tiresome as gloomy ones.

Here is one thing about a woman being a good cook; she knows it.

A man who has a big hearty laugh, is usually inclined to use it too often.

There is only one trick about frying liver, and that is to fry it hard enough.

Some people wear high heel shoes as if they were not accustomed to them.

The trouble with some men is, when they work hard one day, they rest two.

We sometimes think that if a girl wants to marry well, she should be a very good woman, or a very bad one.

We saw a horrible sight on the street this morning, a pigeon-toed woman with a short skirt, wearing high-heeled shoes.

When a man is away at a summer resort, it makes him feel funny to hear that the weather is cool and delightful at home.

They tell of a woman who was three months traveling from Schenectady, New York, to Omaha, and she was doing her best all the time.

A stuffed elk or deer head always has the nose too high in the air. A photographer insists on the same thing when he takes your picture.

When a bank refuses a man credit, the man has it "in" for the bank for years afterwards. By-the-way, a bank often refuses a good man credit, and trusts a bad one.

With all these built hips, and seamy waists, and openwork stockings, and high heeled shoes, an old fashion girl, dressed neatly and plainly, looks good to the eyes.

Girl Notes: There is a good deal of "talk" about Irene Morrissey, on North Third street; they say she kisses the men for nickies. She is two years old, and about the prettiest baby in town.

Many years ago, a story was told that was referred to as "the purest, sweetest story ever told." Ever since there has been a flood of imitations, and the imitations are very, very bad.

When two farmers live side by side and one has good corn, and the other poor, do you know what it means? It means that the man with poor corn is shiftless. But don't you dare say so.

A man's life is full of crosses and temptations. He comes into this world without his consent, and goes out against his will, and the trip between the two is exceedingly rocky.

The rule of contraries is one of the important features of the trip. When he is little, the big girls kiss him, but when he is grown, the little girls kiss him. If he raises a large family, he is a chump, but if he raises a small check, he is a thief. If he is poor, he is a bad manager, if he is rich, he is dishonest; if he is in politics, it's for pie; if he's out of politics, you can't place him, and he's no good for his country. If he doesn't give to charity, he is a stinky cuss, if he does, it is for show; if he dies young, there was a great future ahead of him, if he lives to an old age, he has missed his calling. He is introduced into this world and to the next by the same process. The road is rocky, but man loves to travel it.—Sent in

OPENING OF THE CARNIVAL

Attended by Big Crowds on the Public Square Last Night.

Jean Weitzman's Thrilling High Wire Act in a Volcano of Fireworks, the Bostock and Circoleum and Other Shows Are Thoroughly Fine.

The opening night of the Carnival brought good cheer to the Merchant's committee, and gave promise of a successful week. Early in the evening the cars centering on the square, brought people from every part of the city, and as soon as the cry of the "barker" began, accompanied by the pandemonium which reigns when the various instruments to attract attention break forth, the crowds surged from one place to another, and none of the shows were slighted.

The attractions at the Merchant's Street Carnival are many and varied, but taking all together, free and paid for, there is no feature that surpasses in splendor the thrilling act of Jean Weitzman. On a wire stretched from the top of the Lima house to the top of the building opposite, on Market street, the performer dances and juggles with his life on a slender wire over a pavement thronged with anxious spectators.

The climax comes when Jean Weitzman, after his thrilling, clownish act, sets off a set piece of fireworks in the middle of the wire, and is framed in by blazing rockets and whirling wheels of fire.

Among the best of the shows is the Circoleum, where the wonderful Japs give an exhibition almost beyond belief. Their juggling acts and balancing feats are new and novel, and the applause is continuous. But the Japs are only one feature. A thrilling act is the marking out of the outlines of a woman's body by a knife throwing expert, and when he tries it blindfolded, the cold chills make their appearance. The holding of one end of a slack wire in a man's teeth, while his companion does a balancing act, is another good card and these same performers do several other acrobatic turns equally as good. The four brownies in the cycle whirl, especially

AN AUDIENCE BY POPE PIUS

Was Given to Cardinal Moran, Arch. Bishop of Sidney.

Rome, Aug. 25.—Cardinal Moran, archbishop of Sydney, N. S. W., was received today in private audience by Pope Pius, and presented to the pontiff the congratulations of the catholics of Australia. The Pope was very much pleased and said that the telegram which Cardinal Moran had despatched to him from Ceylon, had given him the greatest pleasure. He thanked the prelate heartily, and imparted to him the apostolic blessing, which he also bestowed on the faithful of Australia. The audience lasted half an hour. Pope Pius is particularly pleased at the presence of Cardinal Moran, in Rome. With his meeting with the latter, he has now seen every foreign cardinal.

BAXTER PLACE

Visited by a Slight Conflagration Last Night.

The central fire department was called out at 11:30 o'clock last night to extinguish a blaze that had started in a chicken house on the grounds at Dr. S. A. Baxter's home, on west Market street. The fire had gained considerable headway and a stream of water was thrown by the department before the flames were extinguished. The origin of the fire is unknown. The firemen are grateful to Dr. Baxter for an excellent lunch that was served for them before they left the scene of the fire.

BLOWN OUT OF LOCOMOTIVE.

Enginemen Meet Terrible Death Through an Accident on the Lake Shore Railroad.

Elm. Pa. Aug. 25.—While ascending a heavy grade about two miles west of Girard, the crown sheet of a Lake Shore locomotive on a west-bound freight train blew out, fatally scalding engineer Charles Albright, of Buffalo, and fireman J. W. Burns, of Ashland, Ohio and terribly burning brakeman Ralph Clary, of Collinwood, O. All three men are single. The men were blown clear out of the locomotive cab. The train continued to run, and the rest of the crew knew nothing of the terrible accident, until they saw from the caboose windows the bodies of their fellow employees lying along side the track.

HAND

Of Death Fell Quite Suddenly In Two Homes

Claiming Victims Without Warning.

Altheadore J. Stevick, of German Township, Passes Away.

Resulting from an Attack Death of Heart Trouble—Mrs. Lucy Mason Dies After a Few Minutes of Illness.

Altheadore J. Stevick, one of the most active and most widely known farmers of German township, died quite suddenly at his home, three miles west of the city, about 10:50 o'clock, last night, death resulting from an attack of heart trouble. His death was so sudden and unexpected that the news will be a severe shock to his hosts of warm friends throughout the city and county.

Mr. Stevick retired for the night about 10:30 o'clock, and without warning, suddenly lapsed into unconsciousness and his heavy breathing attracted the attention of the family. A physician was sent for, but within about 20 minutes, he had passed peacefully away.

The deceased was 44 years of age, and was the second son of Daniel Stevick, who survives him. He is also survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter.

The deceased was a member of Lima Aerie, of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and is the first member of that lodge to pass away. The funeral services will be held at the residence at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and members of the lodge will attend the services.

Mrs. Lucy Mason.

Another sudden death occurred early this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, 413 south Central avenue, the victim being Mrs. Lucy Mason, a well known south side resident, who had called at the Miller home to spend the night there. About 3 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Mason became ill and summoned Mrs. Miller, who gave her a light stimulant and then retired again to her own room. Mrs. Mason stating that her sudden illness had passed away. A short time later, however, she became very ill again, and within a few minutes, passed away.

A post mortem examination held at Bennett's morgue today, revealed the fact that Mrs. Mason's death had been caused by a heart clot.

The deceased was about 50 years of age, and the whereabouts of her husband, Thomas Mason, from whom she had been separated for a number of years, are unknown. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

SADDENED

Is Home of Attorney Frank E. Mead, by Death.

Mrs. Mead Passed from Mortal Life Last Evening—Funeral Services to Be Held Thursday.

The home of attorney Frank E. Mead, at 624 west High street, was saddened, last evening by the death, his wife, Mrs. Lottie A. Mead, passing away at 5:45 o'clock, after an illness of long duration, and from which a surgical operation recently performed, brought no relief.

The deceased was born at Venice, N. Y., June 7, 1854 and became the bride of Mr. Mead on June 4, 1872, their marriage occurring at Seneca Falls, N. Y. Deceased is survived by her husband, Frank E. Mead; her mother, Mrs. E. M. Crippen, sister, Mrs. W. L. Parmenter, and brother, Mr. Charles Crippen. Mrs. Mead was an artist of rare ability, many of her gems of china painting are treasured in the homes of her friends in this city.

The funeral services, which will be conducted by Rev. E. J. Thompson, will be held at the residence at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

LIKE BOYS.

Two Lads, an Aunt and Fighting Roosters.

In the days when a brown-stone front was regarded as the outer and visible sign of "gentility," and when life in New York was a simple matter than it is today, there lived in one of the orthodox mansions a certain highly respectable maiden lady and two nephews, cousins, to whom she was guardian.

A classmate and chum of the elder boy had become the happy possessor of a rooster, which the seller assured him, had a "big gamey streak to him." Inflamed by this eulogy, both boys were wild for a "match," and not having the means wherewith to purchase an antagonist, they put their heads together to compass the borrowing of one, and with the following results:

The younger cousin, an unusually polite and gentle little boy, was despatched on the first holiday to the grocery where the family dealt, ostensibly to order a chicken for dinner. "But," he said, pointing to a coop of live fowls, "my aunt wants to see it before you kill it."

The grocer assented, and both with drew from the coop, what he considered a desirable bird. But, the boy would have none of it. He had set his heart on a rain-bow colored rooster with enormous comb and tail.

"Why," said the grocer, "that is the very toughest old customer in the bunch."

"My aunt likes them tough," said the gentle little boy.

In a couple of hours the rooster was borne back to the store—one eye shut, his comb torn and bloody, and but one feather of his beautiful tail left. But he was crowing so triumphantly that a small crowd followed him. He had suffered, but the bird with the "big gamey streak to him" was nowhere.

"My aunt is much obliged to you," said the polite and gentle little boy to the astonished grocer. "She can't decide today, but she would like to look at him again next Saturday."—From "Is Lighter Vein," in the September Century.
